

TRANSFER YOUR FACTORY BUILT STRUCTURE LISTING TO QAI

About The Program

QAI's transfer program allows manufacturers listed with a SCC accredited Certification Body to seamlessly transfer their current certification program to QAI's certification program. There will be no disruption to labelling your structures. If you are seeking options with pricing, open communication, speedy approval turnaround time, and expanding your capability of certifying your structures, QAI will be a great fit with you. Please take a look at who QAI currently represents at qai.org/listing-directory

Transfer Process

The transfer process is seamless and will not disrupt you from labeling your approved structures.

1. Document Review. Please share your approved certification documents for QAI to review. If you do not have these documents, you may request this from your certification provider
2. Plant Inspection. QAI to conduct an Initial Plant Inspection, which will count as one of the quarterly inspections
3. Certification Documents. QAI to finalize and update your certification documents to the most recent standard
4. Live Listing. Manufacturer is now listed with QAI. You may now begin labeling your approved structures with a QAI certification mark.

Details of transfer

1. The transfer process takes approximately 30 days once we receive all approved documents
2. QAI will not duplicate any work that has already been completed
3. Your full scope of listing will be transferred to QAI and you may continue to label your approved structures with a QAI certification mark.

For more information about QAI's services offered, please contact us via info@qai.org.

About QAI

QAI is a testing, inspection and certification agency accredited by SCC and AIS for a variety of products and assemblies used in construction from durability, to fire resistant assemblies. Founded in 1994 by a group of experienced industry professionals, QAI is an independent 3rd party organization that has established an international reputation for offering cost effective and an unparalleled client experience.

