

GREEN PRODUCT EVALUATION & CERTIFICATION

Who We Are

QAI is a testing, inspection, and certification body that is recognized by the regulatory authorities in Canada and the US that allow QAI to certify your green products to insure they meet scientifically measured standards before going to market.

What We Do

QAI helps manufacturers of different types of products gather LEED credits to give their products a higher environmental rating before going to market to, as well as helping products satisfy Canadian and US certification requirements.

With that service you can expect QAI to:

- Provide one point of contact throughout the certification.
- Help you find trusted solutions to certify products like architectural wall panels, flooring, electrical products and more.
- Help your product meet Prop 65, EPD, and HPD.
- Help you get your product to market seamlessly with experienced staff helping every step of the way.
